"If any man may take to himself the proud thought that he has been instrumental for God in the generation in which he lives, the man who wrote 'Strange Tales,' who had seen three million copies of these 'Strange Tales' circulated in his lifetime, may at least go out of the world with the consciousness that he had lifted up his voice for what was true, what was pure, what was lovely, and what was of good report."—Bishop of Manchester.

* * * "Mr. Ashworth's Tales and Books are above my praise; they are circulated, I believe, not by thousands, but by millions, and the result is that the name of John Ashworth is a Household Word, not only in the lordly halls, but in the lowly homes of England."—Dr. Guthrie.
